Shanghai DVN Lighting & Interior Workshop - 29 - 30 October, 2025

DVN are back in China for the 8th time. This past April, we witnessed the impressive development speed in China, the large number of new-vehicle reveals, and the super-crowded event.

The importance of automotive interiors has been growing significantly over the past three years, and so I set out to include a session about interior lighting at our event. With this year's venue, it is possible for us to have, for the first time, parallel sessions at a DVN event in China.

So, after six months' work, and a great deal of talking and listening with our DVN members and the broader network of OEMs and suppliers, here we are!

Thank you to all participants for being here. Your presence will make this event a success.

We have focused our efforts in two directions:

- Lighting: vehicle lighting technology, cost, and speed in China's disruption-centred market.
- Interior: HMI, CMF, interior lighting, and design to shape the vehicle interiors of today and tomorrow.

We have built the event with a common session when we talk about interior lighting, and dedicated sessions for the rest of the topics.

We have a lot of panel discussions and round tables to facilitate exchange among engineers, leaders, and designers all passionate about automotive development.

This Shanghai DVN Workshop gathers more than 500 participants from all over the world. Experts, researchers, managers, designers, engineers...and you! Thank you for your trust in DVN and for being here!

Paul-Henri Matha
DVN Chief Executive Officer

In this report, our technical experts Jean-Paul Ravier, Thomas Fröhlich and Paul-Henri Matha took time to exchange with LED maker, LED IC maker and market insight companies (S&P Global Mobility and Trenforce) to provide this extensive report about RGB led and RGB LED IC market.

In addition, Robert Striedieck, Senior Interior Designer, made an exhaustive report about how OEM are handling interior lighting.

For the two-week duration of the Auto Show, Shanghai was the centre of the automotive industry in the world. Media and top decision makers gathered to discover, analyze, talk, and listen about what is happening in China. For this report, I've tried to have a global view; I took pictures of the interesting lamps I saw from car and lampmakers. I'll have to beg forgiveness for the brands I missed; it was a very long long week. But there's added value waiting for you in this report: information from ALE events that occurred in the runup to Auto Shanghai, where DVN's Anne Ai and Wolfgang Huhn attended.
